

Dawn Anzualda works with the middle school students individually, in small groups, through classroom guidance lessons, and school-wide initiatives. She feels that it is important to focus on the whole child, so that every student realizes his or her social, emotional, and academic potential.

Mrs. Anzualda grew up in North Florida and enjoys the beaches and the lifestyle Ponte Vedra and St. Augustine offer. Mrs. Anzualda and her husband have 2 successful adult children. Their daughter is a teacher in St. Johns County and their son is in medical school at UTSW in Dallas. Mrs. Anzualda enjoys coaching cheerleading, dancing, going to the gym and playing with her granddaughter, Ellie.

Mrs. Anzualda received her Bachelor's degree in Elementary Education from University of North Florida and her masters from Tarleton State University in Counseling. She is also credentialed in Educational Leadership. Mrs. Anzualda has worked in St. Johns County for 5 years in schools from the south end to the north, but Valley Ridge is where she calls home. She serves on the district Character Counts! Steering Committee and is the historian for the St Johns Coastal Counseling Association.
